BACK NUMBERS

OF

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA

¶ Notwithstanding the fact that the value of each edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA for up-to-date reference in regard to the living notables of the country is entirely supplanted by the succeeding new edition, the old volumes gain, year by year, in historical and reminiscent usefulness. The latest volume will, of course, always present the living with such increased completeness as to be indispensable for daily reference, yet the old editions become more and more valuable as records of those who have died, many of which it would be difficult, if not impossible, to find elsewhere. This fact is meeting with wide recognition, so that public, institutional and private libraries are keeping the old volumes as a series of the utmost value for presenting, with a completeness nowhere else attainable, the biographical history of the United States and all its varied interests and activities.

You should keep a complete file of Who's Who in America—from the first volume to the latest. If you have not procured the earlier volumes, BEGIN NOW.

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA

A Biographical Dictionary of Notable Living Men and Women of the United States. Established, 1899, by Albert Nelson Marquis. Revised and Reissued Biennially.

"Who's Who in America" aims to give a brief, crisp, personal sketch of every living man and woman in the United States whose position or achievements make his or her personality of general interest, and tells just the things every intelligent person wants to know about those who are most conspicuous in every walk of life.

A valuable feature of the book will be found in the appended addresses. No other work has ever attempted the laborious task of finding and furnishing the addresses of leading Americans in all parts of the world. Thus, the book possesses not only the best attributes of a Biographical Dictionary, but is also a handy Directory of those living people of the United States in whom almost everybody is interested.

"Who's Who in America" is thoroughly revised, brought down and reissued biennially. No one who aims to keep abreast of the times can afford to be without a copy at his elbow constantly. The edition for 1908-9 contains 16,216 personal sketches and 2,400 pages. The price of this edition is $4.00 per copy. The price of future editions will be $5.00 per copy.

ADDRESS THE DEAN, HARTFORD, CONN.

SHEFFIELD SCIENTIFIC SCHOOL OF YALE UNIVERSITY

The Sheffield Scientific School, founded in 1847 as a Department of Yale University, offers a wide range of opportunity for general and special studies in science. There are thirteen special courses of study leading to the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy. The more prominent of these courses are in Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Municipal and Sanitary Engineering, Mining Engineering, Metallurgy, Chemistry, Biology, with special reference to preparation for Medical studies, a course preparatory to Forestry, and a course in General Scientific study, including History, English, Anthropology, Political Science, Economics, Finance, with French, German, Spanish, etc.

More advanced courses, leading to the degree of C. E., M. E., M. S., E. M. and Ph. D., are likewise offered to graduates of universities and colleges especially qualified for advanced scientific study. As one of the Departments of Yale University the students of the Sheffield Scientific School have all the advantages of the University Libraries, Reading-rooms, University Gymnasium, Athletic field, Dining Hall, etc. New laboratories and dormitories now under construction promise additional facilities. The faculty is composed of seventy-five professors and instructors, with a student-body of about thirteen hundred.

Connecticut Literary Institution

SUFFIELD, CONNECTICUT

Founded in 1833. Campus of 25 acres; Kent Memorial Library of 25,000 volumes free to all students. Location combines quiet with accessibility, and freedom from city allurements.

Certificate admits classical and scientific graduates without examination to all colleges and scientific schools employing the certificate system. Young ladies are admitted as day pupils but are not domiciled on the premises, thus securing refining influences of co-education with none of its disadvantages.

A strong and healthy mind in a robust body is the ideal of this school.

Address for particulars,

RALPH K. BEARCE, A. M., Principal.

Connecticut Literary Institution

Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

History. . . . . Trinity College (originally known as Washington College) was founded in 1823 by act of the Legislature of Connecticut. In 1845 the name was changed to Trinity College and in 1872 a new site of 80 acres was purchased, the old site having been sold to the city of Hartford as a location for the State Capitol. The new buildings were first occupied in 1878 and the College has since grown until its buildings and equipment are recognized as among the most complete to be found in America.

Government . Trinity College has always been controlled by trustees, a majority of whom have been members of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Nevertheless the College is strictly non-sectarian and no religious test is required of trustee, officer or student.

Curriculum . . The course of study is thoroughly adapted to prepare young men either for a professional or business career. Over 100 courses of study are offered, each of three periods per week and extending through an entire year. In addition to the classics and older courses, modern languages and the sciences receive a great deal of attention. The Laboratories, Biological, Chemical, Physical, and Psychological are of recent construction and are fully equipped with modern apparatus. Full courses are provided in Industrial Chemistry, Electrical Engineering, Civil Engineering, and Sanitary Engineering.

Library . . . . A well selected library of 52,000 volumes, 30 per cent of which have been procured within the last 10 years, is open to students of the College. The facilities here presented for study and research are fully adequate to collegiate requirements.

Physical Training. . . . A complete Gymnasium, under charge of a competent instructor, is one of the features of the College. The Athletic Field comprises nine acres and includes a quarter-mile cinder track, a foot-ball field, a base-ball field, etc., with ample seating accommodations.

Catalogue for further information upon request.

FLAVEL S. LUTHER, Ph. D., LL. D., President

Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

THERE is in the hilly country of southwestern Connecticut a successful school for young boys which has grown from the smallest beginnings, in the hands of one man and his wife, until it has accumulated a substantial property charming in its location, and possessing features and buildings admirably adapted to its work. The growth of this property is coincident with the development of the school, and represents its ideals, while they find a still better expression in a little book written by the master out of his absorbing interest in this labor of love. Not all parents believe alike in these ideals, but the endorsement of them by many has selected an unusual group of patrons who have centered their hopes here year after year.

It is wise to place a son where he will have good associations, and be able to initiate life long friendships with boys of fine families. It is good to place him in the care of a man who has ideals, and has realized some of them in the acquisition of a ripe experience—a man who illustrates also the value of a habit of persistent work in one chosen path. It is good to place him under a master whose boys write to him, and come back to visit him, and remain loyal to the teachings of their school days. It is also very wise and good to place him where he will learn to make for himself some of those decisions without which character is never developed.

This school is

The Curtis School for Young Boys

Ridgewold, Redding Ridge, Connecticut

A wholesome home life—individual attention under experienced teachers—drill in the fundamentals—thorough preparation for all colleges and technical schools—a summer session for candidates for the September examinations

WE BELIEVE that the country is the place for growing boys, and that a well ordered farm offers great educational possibilities. Farming is one of the few surviving industries that have not been robbed of their educative value by excessive division of labor. It is a practical laboratory for the study of natural science, a workshop which develops not only manual dexterity, but resourcefulness, initiative, and self-reliance.

Ridgewold, in a hill country of unusual beauty, far removed from the distractions of town life, affords opportunity for rich out-of-door experiences, not merely athletics,—a free open air life, driving, walking, familiarity with soil, sky, fields, woods, animals,—and a chance to observe and to share at will in the interests of the farm.

WESTOVER SCHOOL

Middlebury, Connecticut

MISS MARY R. HILLARD, Principal

¶ For six years Miss Hillard was a teacher in Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Connecticut, under Miss Porter. A number of years ago Miss Hillard became principal of St. Margaret's School, Waterbury, Connecticut. St. Margaret's has become known as one of the leading girls' schools in the country. The necessity of increased facilities has led to the purchase of a new site in the country, and the erection of new buildings equipped with all modern conveniences for a girls' school of the very best class, into which the school will be moved upon the completion of the building during the school year 1908-9.

Westover School is located in Middlebury, an old New England village lying among the hills six miles west of Waterbury, in one of the most healthful and attractive spots in the East. Middlebury is easily accessible from New York, and all important points in New England. The School estate consists of fifteen acres of homestead, meadow and woodland. The buildings, built about a large cloistered quadrangle, flooded with sunlight, are unique and beautiful, and possess an atmosphere of Academic charm found more often abroad than in our own land. They include a beautiful School Chapel. The object of the school is to offer the best possible opportunity for a finished education along modern lines, and to promote the cultivation of mind and character. Especial and constant emphasis is placed upon a high moral standard, and upon general cultivation. Teachers are selected for individual talent in their respective departments. The school is conducted along lines of the Episcopal Church, but is not sectarian in its teaching. While all appointments are the best and most modern especial care has been taken to avoid an atmosphere of luxury, and to maintain a tone of old time New England simplicity.

Terms are $1,000.00. Descriptive catalogue mailed upon application to

MRS. ALICE CLAWSON GOVE, Principal

This school is located in Evanston, the most beautiful suburb of Chicago. Its ideal situation renders available the many opportunities afforded by Chicago for general culture in Music, Art, Lectures and the Drama. It offers complete preparation for the best colleges, and well arranged elective courses for young ladies who do not intend to go to college. Usual work in the Lower School.

The teachers are selected on account of their personality, scholarship and culture. Classes in all departments are small, hence pupils are given individual attention.

The influence of art in the development of character is kept constantly in view. In order to accomplish this purpose most thoroughly, the School is making a collection of beautiful pictures, in oil and water colors. The study of pictures is a part of the prescribed course in the Lower School, leading to wider study of History of Art in the Upper School.

Lectures and musical recitals by the best talent are given at the School. Physical training for strength of body, poise and grace of carriage, in charge of a specialist.

A refined home and excellent training promised.

College and Academy of the Immaculate Conception

Incorporated under the laws of the State of Indiana.

OLDENBURG, FRANKLIN COUNTY, INDIANA.

A Catholic Institution for the Higher Education of Girls and Young Ladies, under the entire control of the Sisters of St. Francis OLDENBURG is connected by an excellent turnpike to Batesville, the nearest railroad station, on the New York Central R. R., C., C., C., I. & St. Louis division, about midway between Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

THE INSTITUTION'S AIM is to fit young women for the various walks of life, to make them worthy representatives of Christian womanhood. Not so much a large, as a safe College, is the ambition of the Faculty; quality rather than quantity.

HEALTH AND SANITATION. "What cheerfulness and purity of atmosphere pervades every apartment!" is a frequent exclamation of patrons and visitors. A fine, unencumbered location, salubrity of air, water and physical exercise, are the potent factors in promoting and preserving the high standard of health among the students.

THE DISCIPLINE is mild, yet firm. Every student is required at all times to observe that decorum which distinguishes the woman of true culture.

COURSES: Collegiate, Preparatory, Commercial and Complete Grammar School Courses, also a Minim Department, are at the command of those who covet a practical, scientific, moral and Christian education.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT is modeled on the plan of the best classical European Conservatories.

THE ART COURSE, in its various phases, offers superior advantages.

PLAIN AND FANCY NEEDLEWORK in every variety, is taught on recreation days. Special instruction given, when so desired.

BATES COLLEGE

LEWISTON, MAINE.

BATES COLLEGE grew out of Maine State Seminary, chartered, 1855. The College charter was granted, 1864, and from the time of its organization, 1863, Bates College has received young women on the same terms with young men—the first college in the Eastern states to adopt the co-educational basis.

The College is located on the Androscoggin River, 35 miles northeast of Portland and little more than 4 hours' ride from Boston. It is unsectarian but unequivocally Christian. Among its graduates are many acknowledged leaders in all parts of the Union, whose success in life is assurance of the practical value of the methods employed at this institution. In the percentage of graduates that have attained eminence as educators it is second to no other College in America.

Bates College has carried off the honors in 15 out of 17 inter-collegiate debating contests. It is also noted for low cost of tuition and living expenses for the large percentage of of students earning their own way, and for the democratic spirit that prevails. Students of ample, moderate, and limited means live and work together in absolute social equality. No secret societies, no hazing, and absolute freedom from alcoholic drinks.

The College has a beautiful campus of fifty acres and substantial and well equipped buildings; but its rapid growth has created new and urgent needs. Nowhere in our country can money devoted to educational work be more wisely or effectively employed.

CHARLESTON, MAINE

Higgins Classical Institute is located 25 miles by electric road, northwest of Bangor, Me., in one of the most healthful regions of New England.

The School was established, 1837, as Charleston Academy, incorporated under the present name, 1891, and became one of the regular fitting schools for Colby College.

A new epoch in the history of the School dates from 1901, when new buildings and equipment were dedicated, including the Institute Building, 110 feet long, 60 feet wide and three and a half stories high, and Tibbett's Hall, one of the finest dormitories in the country.

The School has a working library of 1,600 volumes, complete modern laboratory facilities, gymnasium and athletic field. Artesian water is supplied from well 300 feet deep.

As the School is endowed, the cost of tuition and other expenses are surprisingly low. For particulars, address

WHEN WRITING, MENTION WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA

The Woman's College of Baltimore

Founded 1885 Opened 1888

JOHN FRANKLIN GOUCHER, - - President

Situation The Woman's College of Baltimore is situated near the northern boundaries of the city of Baltimore, Md., in one of the best residential sections, one hundred and fifty feet above tide-water.

Buildings The buildings are six in number—three devoted to instruction and administration, three to residence. All are new, cheerful and commodious, erected particularly for their respective purposes, and containing the conveniences devised by modern architectural science. They are heated from a battery of boilers and lighted by electricity from the new power house of the College.

Educational Equipment Ample and thoroughly furnished laboratories facilitate study of the natural sciences by modern methods. The apparatus is of recent type, carefully selected. Maps, charts, engravings, photographs and cabinets of specimens and of objects illustrating natural history and the development of the race are liberally provided. There is a good, modern working library of about ten thousand volumes, while half a million volumes are at the service of students in public and institutional libraries easily accessible.

Course of Study The course of study includes prescribed subjects and elective subjects in about equal proportions. Students who wish to follow particular lines of study are enabled to lay a solid foundation for subsequent specialization. Elective courses are offered in Greek, Latin, French, Spanish, Italian, German, English Literature, including Old and Middle English, Mathematics, Geology, Mineralogy, Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Biology, History, Economics, and Sociology. Upon the completion of a course usually requiring four years, the student is graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Physical Training and Hygiene Every candidate for the degree is required to pursue a course in physiology and hygiene. A commodious, modern gymnasium provides systematic exercises according to the Ling, or Swedish, method under careful training and supervision of a physician specially prepared in mechanical therapeutics. Halls are provided for basket ball and courts for tennis and similar sports. Care is taken to prevent excess in these exercises.

Entrance Requirements These are the usual requirements of Eastern colleges and should be met by graduates of good high schools in which at least one language in addition to Latin is embraced in the course of study. Certificates of preparation which furnish full details will be considered when offered by schools previously accredited and, if found sufficient, will be accepted as substitutes for examination, otherwise examinations will be necessary. Certificates of the College Entrance Examination Board are accepted.

Numbers The College is now (1908) entering upon its twentieth session. Its alumnæ number seven hundred and ten. Recent graduating classes have numbered from sixty to seventy-nine. The freshman class numbers, and for the present is limited to, one hundred and twenty-five. The students are from all parts of the country. All religious denominations are liberally represented.

Application for Admission Program of the College courses, regulations for the government of the residence halls, blank forms of application and information upon special subjects will be promptly furnished upon request to

The Woman's College of Baltimore, Baltimore, Md.

Westbrook Seminary

PORTLAND, MAINE

WESTBROOK SEMINARY is a co-educational School. It was founded in 1831 and in course of three-quarters of a century has gained wide recognition on account of the thoroughness of its teaching and the high character of its pupils.

THE SCHOOL IS LOCATED on beautiful and spacious grounds, 200 feet above sea level, in a retired part of the city of Portland. The temperature is equable and healthful and the sanitary conditions are perfect. Water is supplied from Sebago Lake which is fed by pure mountain springs.

THE BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT of the School are on a par with those of the best preparatory schools of the country. The buildings are Goddard Hall for young men, Hersey Hall for young women, the Dining Hall, Alumni Hall, Chapel, and McArthur Gymnasium, one of the most complete buildings of the kind in the state. The Library contains over 5,000 volumes and a valuable collection of minerals is owned by the School.

THE COURSE OF STUDY IS ELASTIC, giving sufficiently wide range of choice of studies to suit any taste, but requiring such other subjects as are needed either to give a broad general education or to fit for college or professional school. Students desiring to take special work are given exceptional facilities for doing so. Advanced work for high school graduates is a distinctive feature of this School. Westbrook gives to athletics the attention they deserve. The young women enjoy all the privileges of the gymnasium.

AMHERST COLLEGE

Amherst, Massachusetts

AMHERST COLLEGE was opened September 19, 1821, with forty-seven students. The College was chartered February 21, 1825. It is governed by a board of seventeen trustees, five of whom are elected by the Alumni. The College is situated on the slope of the Connecticut Valley, four miles east of the river. Beyond the broad valley on the west are the Hampshire and Berkshire hills, on the south is the Holyoke range, on the north are Mount Toby and the Sugar Loaf mountains, on the east are the Pelham hills. The College is placed on a broad eminence at the center of this circle of mountains and ranges, looking out in every direction on beautiful scenery.

Students come from many states of the Union, the enrollment for the academic year 1907-8 being more than five hundred.

Admission is by examination or by certificate from approved schools. Examinations are held in June and in September either at Amherst or at the Schools in which candidates have prepared. The candidate may, at his option, take his examinations in two parts, preliminary and final, thus dividing his subjects between two years, or between June and September of the same year.

The courses of instruction lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. By taking extra courses, the degree may be obtained in three or three and one-half years by students who maintain a high standing. After the first year there is entire freedom in the choice or studies.

The courses of instruction cover a wide range and are in charge of teachers of experience and thorough training.

Among the subjects taught are: Philosophy, History, Economics, Modern Government, Biblical Literature, Greek, Latin, German, Romance Languages, English, Public Speaking, Greek Art, Roman and Italian Art, Music, Mathematics, Physics, Astronomy and Navigation, Chemistry, Mineralogy and Geology Biology, Botany, Hygiene and Physical Education.

The College Library contains about 80,000 volumes and is supplied with the best reference books and the leading American and foreign periodicals.

The College is generously supplied with museums, laboratories and scientific apparatus. New Biological and Geological laboratories will be completed in 1908, and new laboratories for Chemistry and Physics were recently erected. The buildings are provided with lecture rooms, recitation rooms, working laboratories accommodating sixty students at a time, and many instruments of precision available for illustration of lectures and for use by students making independent investigation.

The Natural History collections contain more than 100,000 specimens of the animal, mineral and vegetable kingdoms—among them, Audubon's celebrated collection of birds, of about 600 specimens.

The College Observatory is equipped with an eighteen-inch telescope and with two smaller telescopes, with instruments for instruction in the theory and practice of navigation, and much other apparatus. The gymnasium, swimming pool, skating rink and recreation grounds are ample for all requirements.

Harvard University

Harvard College

Harvard College offers elective courses of study leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. Its students are afforded access to more than five hundred courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, History, Government, Economics, Philosophy, Education, Fine Arts, Music, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Engineering, Forestry, Botany, Zoölogy, Physiology, Geology, Mineralogy, Mining, Metallurgy, and Anthropology. The student is expected to select his subjects with reference to a plan of study for his whole course, carefully prepared under the best advice accessible to him, including not only that of specially appointed Advisers but also that of any member of the University Faculties. He is made to feel responsible, however, for his own choice. The necessary precedence of elementary courses over the large range of advanced courses, and the needs and limitations of each student facilitate his choice in the Freshman year without limiting it too narrowly.

Elective Courses

Instruction in Harvard College is aided by large scientific collections, museums, laboratories, and special reference libraries. The University Library contains about 750,000 volumes and 500,000 phamphlets. In addition to the regular courses of instruction, orchestral and chamber concerts, lectures and readings in Cambridge and Boston are open to members of the University. Scientific societies and conferences stimulate scholarly interest and promote agreeable intercourse between older and younger scholars.

Other Resources

Students may reside in college dormitories or in private lodgings. Board is furnished at cost by two dining Halls, each accommodating over a thousand members, and may also be obtained in private boarding houses and eating clubs. The Harvard Union offers at low cost to all members of the University the advantages of a well appointed club house.

Lodging and Board

The services of a Medical Visitor employed by the University, a completely equipped Infirmary, including in a detached building, ample wards for contagious cases, ensure adequate attendance, diet and care in case of sickness to every student of the University, whatever his means may be.

Care of Health

Harvard College offers each year about 145 scholarships, the stipends varying from $100 to $450, besides Beneficiary Aid and Loan Funds yielding about $40,000 a year. Twenty-five Prizes, varying in amount from $40 to $500 are open to undergraduate competition. The awards to students in these aids and prizes amount in the whole University to about $140,000 a year.

Scholarships and Prizes

Students are admitted to regular standing by examination, a considerable range of choice being permitted among subjects taught in secondary schools. Examinations are held by the University in June, both in Cambridge and in about fifty other towns and cities in the United States and foreign countries. Examinations are held in Cambridge in September. Candidates are also permitted to take the examinations offered by the College Entrance Examination Board.

Admission Examinations

For information concerning the Requirements for Admission, Examinations, Courses of Study, Scholarships, Fees and Expenses, address the Secretary of Harvard College - 18 University Hall, Cambridge, Mass.

Harvard University

A Bachelor's Degree in arts, science, letters, or philosophy (or equivalent evidence of training) from any college, scientific school or university of approved standing, will admit the holder without examination to the following departments of Harvard University:

Graduate School of Arts and Sciences

Advanced studies in Arts and Sciences. After admission to the School, the terms of admission to candidacy for the degrees of Master of Arts, Master of Science, Doctor of Philosophy, and Doctor of Science are a matter for special determination in each case. Address the Dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Cambridge, Mass.

Graduate School of Applied Science

Courses of study appropriate to the following professional degrees: Master in Civil, Mechanical or Electrical Engineering, Master in Architecture, or Landscape Architecture, Mining Engineer, Metallurgical Engineer, Master in Forestry, Master of Science in Chemistry, Master of Science in Geology, Master of Science in Zoölogy. Address the Dean of the Graduate School of Applied Science, Cambridge, Mass.

Divinity School

Courses of study largely elective, appropriate to the calling of the Ministry, and leading to the degree of Bachelor of Divinity in three years. The School is undenominational. Its spirit of free and earnest inquiry after truth is that which dominates all university studies. Special attention is given to preparation for the practical work of the ministry. Large opportunity is offered for graduate study; many of the students are graduates of other theological seminaries. Address the Dean of the Divinity School, Cambridge, Mass.

Law School

Courses of study, elective after the first year, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws in three years. The design of this school is to afford such a training in the fundamental principles of English and American Law as will constitute the best preparation for the practice of the profession in any place where that system of law prevails. Address the Dean of the Law School, Cambridge, Mass.

Medical School

Courses of study leading to the degree of Doctor of Medicine, prescribed for three years, elective for one year. Also courses open to graduates in medicine and other persons qualified to pursue advanced biological studies. Address the Dean of the Harvard Medical School, Boston, Mass.

THE requirement of a Bachelor's Degree for admission to these schools is based upon the fact, demonstrated in the experience of Harvard University, that a college education is essential to the most efficient instruction in the several professions, and that in general those persons whose technical training is preceded by a liberal education may be expected to win the largest measure of usefulness and success.

The Allen School of West Newton, Massachusetts

A Distinguished Record. Founded half a century ago under the direction of Horace Mann, this school has remained an exemplar of useful pioneer work on lines of educational progress. In it one of the first kindergartens in America was organized; the first school gymnastic apparatus was used in it, and the first Normal School had its second home here in 1848. Between four and five thousand students have been instructed here, coming from every state and territory in the United States and 40 foreign countries.

The Allen School for Boys is located in one of the finest suburban residence cities in the United States, with rigidly inspected water supply, pure air, good drainage, clean streets and skilful physicians.

The Junior School provides care and instruction for boys from nine to fourteen years of age and the Senior School furnishes thorough preparation for any college, scientific or business school. Nine well trained and enthusiastic teachers for sixty boys make individual instruction the rule.

Under the careful supervision of a competent Physical Director, a fully equipped gymnasium with a marble swimming pool and a four-acre athletic field afford opportunity for all the sport consistent with good work.

For a detailed description of the special advantages of the Allen School, write to

EVERETT S. JONES, Head Master.

ABBOT ACADEMY

Andover, Massachusetts

ABBOT ACADEMY was founded in 1828 for the education of young women. Its object has always been to cultivate Christian character, incite to thorough scholarship and to prepare girls for lives of usefulness. The Academy has enrolled more than 6,000 pupils and 600 graduates.

The Academy is located in Andover, within 23 miles of Boston, and pupils may attend concerts, lectures and plays, and may visit museums in the city as recommended by the management of the school.

The facilities of the Academy are unexcelled. The buildings are large, well lighted, heated and ventilated, and supplied with all the equipment desired in a high class school. The Physical, Chemical and Biological laboratories are new and large and their apparatus is of the finest. A carefully selected library of over 6,000 volumes is systematically consulted by students, and a fine collection of oil paintings, bronzes and engravings is so utilized as to be of great educational value.

The College Preparatory Course gives full certificate privileges for entrance to Vassar, Smith, Mt. Holyoke and Wellesley Colleges and meets requirements adopted by the commission of New England Colleges. The regular Academic Course leads to graduation at the Academy, through Literary, Classical or Scientific departments.

Rare opportunity is offered for study of Music. Many of the greatest speakers and lecturers of America appear at this school.

The Fessenden School

West Newton, Massachusetts.

THIS School was established in 1903 in the belief that there was a growing need in this country for institutions which should receive young boys only and effectively train and prepare them to enter the leading secondary schools. It has been the constant aim of this school to surround those who are entrusted to its care with the refining influences of a home and to provide every facility for healthful and invigorating exercise. These conditions together with a wholesome discipline have been conducive to sound scholarship and strength of character.

A modern school with complete equipment. It has successfully prepared boys to enter such representative schools as The Hill School, The Phillips Exeter Academy, Hotchkiss, Middlesex, Groton and St. Mark's

The course of study covers a period in the average boy's life from the eighth to the fourteenth year. The School is beautifully located in one of Boston's most charming suburbs. The buildings are heated by steam and lighted by electricity. The water supply is excellent. The School property, which includes nine acres of ground, affords ample facilities for golf, tennis, base ball and foot ball. A new gymnasium has recently been added to the equipment.

THE FESSENDEN SCHOOL

Quincy Mansion School

FOR GIRLS

THIS School is in Wollaston Park, in the City of Quincy, Mass., fifteen minutes from the centre of Boston by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. The location is one of the superior advantages of the School, as music, art and shopping centres are as easily and quickly reached as from many parts of the city itself. There are three fine buildings and about eight acres of beautiful grounds, comprising lawns, gardens, groves, and play grounds. The School occupies the finest part of the old Quincy estate which has been for more than two hundred years under careful cultivation. The spot is ideal. Noble trees and beautiful hedges shut in the grounds where the girls have opportunities for exercise and games. The healthfulness of this place is well known. The sanitary arrangements of the buildings are of the best and the water is from the Metropolitan System.

The home life of Quincy Mansion School is one of culture and refinement. The School is undenominational but positively Christian, and Bible instruction is given without sectarian bias.

Courses of study are adapted to meet needs of pupils. English, History and Mathematics are required for graduation; but great variety is allowed in electives.

The regular courses are designed for students not intending to enter college. There is also a College Preparatory Course which meets the highest requirements of collegiate entrance examinations, and the certificate of the School entitles its graduates to enter the colleges for women which accept certificates.

A large corps of teachers is employed and is composed of both men and women graduates of colleges and technical schools. Special advantages given to graduates of High Schools and to students of Music, Art and Languages. Frequent excursions to Boston and places of historic interest. Illustrated prospectus. WORCESTER, MASS.

CARROLL D. WRIGHT, A. M., Ph. D., LL. D., President

Established, 1902, by the late Jonas G. Clark, in the belief that the usual four year College can be accomplished in three years.

The College offers, to men only, a regular course of three years, leading in all departments to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. The three classes are designated as Freshman, Junior and Senior. While athletic sports are encouraged, students do not take part in inter-collegiate contests and are thus enabled to concentrate their energies upon the work of of the curriculum.

The College is thoroughly equipped to give the maximum training in the minimum time and commends itself to earnest and aspiring young men. The small expense reduces the financial problem to the lowest.

WILLIAMS COLLEGE

History Chartered, 1793, and named in honor of Col. Ephriam Williams who was killed in battle with French and Indians, 1755. Christian but not sectarian in its teachings, Williams College was the birthplace of American foreign missionary activity (1806); the first college to organize an alumni association (1821); the first college to send forth a scientific expedition to study plant and animal life (1835); and at Williams College was built the first astronomical observatory for permanent service in America (1837). The name of the College is inseparably identified with that of Mark Hopkins, for 36 years its president and for more than 50 years its professor of moral and intellectual philosophy.

Graduates and Facilities The graduates of Williams College, numbering nearly 4,000 up to the present time, have filled many honorable positions in professional and business life and in the list of its instructors, past and present, are many of the noted educators of America. The work of the College has greatly broadened as the years passed and in all departments it is equipped to meet the exacting demands of modern requirements. A peculiarity of Williams College is that after Freshman year, under operation of a group system that experience has demonstrated to be thoroughly practical, all courses are elective.

The following departments are available:

Department of Greek
Department of Latin
Department of English
Department of Public Speaking & Oratory
Department of Romance Languages
Department of German
Department of Philosophy
Department of History
Department of the History of Art and Civilization

Walnut Hill School for Girls

NATICK, MASS.

This school is situated at Natick, three miles west of Wellesley College, on the Boston & Albany Railroad, forty minutes from Boston.

The school grounds which cover a tract of nineteen acres, including a grove, basket ball field and tennis courts, give ample opportunity for the regular open air exercise which is required of all students.

Great care is taken that the school life may be wholesome as well as pleasant. Extravagance in dress, amusements and personal expenditure is discouraged.

The object of the school is to prepare girls to enter college in good health, with thoughtful and accurate habits of study and a thorough knowledge of the subjects required for admission. The school is approved by the College Entrance Certificate Board. A catalogue with illustrations and further information may be obtained from the Secretary.

MISS CONANT AND MISS BIGELOW, PRINCIPALS

Worcester Academy, Worcester Massachusetts

History Worcester Academy was founded, 1834, and in March, 1907, entered upon its 74th year. The Academy passed through various changes until it became firmly established as a permanent educational institution of America, and now has real estate and invested funds valued at over $750,000.

Object The object of the School from the start has been to prepare boys and young men for college or for useful work in life. The scholarship and moral tone of the students have always been high, and its graduates have gained recognition in honorable pursuits in all the leading countries of the world.

Buildings and Equipment The School has a campus of thirteen acres, and, in addition to principal's residence, seven modern buildings. Among these is Walker Hall, one of the most attractive school buildings of New England, and the finely equipped Kingsley Laboratories, a model home for the natural sciences, 110 feet long, 80 feet deep, and three stories high above basement. The dormitories are commodious, supplied with modern conveniences, and present every advantage for student life that is to be desired. The Megaron, a beautiful recreation hall, is a unique possession.

Courses of Study The Academy offers three courses of instruction, a classical, a Latin-scientific, and a scientific. The principal's certificate admits without examination to many of the leading colleges. The aim is not only to prepare for college, but to train pupils to become close observers and accurate thinkers.

Athletics One of the best five-lap tracks in the United States, built at a cost of $10,000, is found on the Academy athletic field. A fine new swimming pool is connected with the gymnasium. Experts are in charge of all athletics and all students are required to use the gymnasium unless excused.

Influence Parents should know that Worcester Academy is a school where religious influences prevail, and where a clean moral life is the ideal attained.

D. W. ABERCROMBIE, LL. D., Principal.

FAELTEN PIANOFORTE SCHOOL

Boston, Massachusetts

A school of 1000 pupils which prepares the student to become an efficient performer and teacher ready to enter upon a successful professional career. The distinguishing feature of the Faelten System (originated and perfected by Mr. Carl Faelten), is its thoroughness. It teaches concentration, imparts confidence as the result of positive knowledge, and develops simultaneously an intelligent ear, reliable memory, fluency in sight reading and artistic pianoforte playing.

There are two departments in the School, the Juvenile and the Adult. After two months' study under the Faelten System, most children are able to play little pieces in all keys. This department has received hearty approval of patrons and has grown steadily.

A full course of four years under instructors of proven ability is provided for adults. Graduates of the school meet with favor everywhere. Normal course for teachers and special instruction to teachers during the summer months. Students of music may arrange for partial courses.

LAURA A. KNOTT, A. M., Principal

Boston University

THE name and location of Boston University predetermined its character. Established in the heart of the literary metropolis of America, it necessarily is a metropolitan university of the most advanced and comprehensive type. Its founders believed that the highest of all educational ideals was the distinctively Christian; they organized the first university planned with no individual disabilities or class distinctions on the ground of race, nationality, sex or other heredity; and they expressed their faith by giving it at the start more than one and a-half million dollars.

The University presents courses in Theology, Law, Medicine and Surgery, Agriculture, and for higher degrees in post-graduate work. More than 6,700 have already been graduated, and each year shows increased classes in every department. Not an honorary degree has ever been conferred by this University.

The College department has just moved into enlarged and extensive quarters at 688 Boylston Street, adjoining the Boston Public Library and but a block from the Museum of Fine Arts and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The new building provides facilities greatly in advance of those which have hitherto been at the disposal of the University. Large and well equipped science laboratories, commodious class rooms, new gymnasium, swimming pool, and spacious library quarters, have so added to the attractions as to make the College a most desirable institution for higher education.

The New England Conservatory of Music was founded in 1853 by Dr. Eben Tourgee and incorporated, 1870. It has been a pronounced success from the start and presents facilities for students of music not equalled elsewhere in the world.

The Conservatory building is in the art center of Boston. It includes business offices, reception rooms, class rooms, auditoriums, music store, printing room, tuning department and electric plant. The larger auditorium seats over 1000 persons and students here have opportunity of hearing the most noted artists. A smaller auditorium is used for lectures and pupils' recitals. There are fourteen pipe organs in the building and the musical library is one of the finest in America, including many rare manuscripts.

The object of the Conservatory is to educate pupils for a professional career. The enrollment now exceeds 2,800 yearly. A diploma from this Conservatory enables its possessor, with little difficulty, to secure a position anywhere. PUNKATASSET HILL

CONCORD, MASSACHUSETTS

Announcement. A School for boys beautifully located one mile from historic Concord, with new buildings, new equipment—everything strictly modern and up to date.

Historical. This School was founded by Thomas H. Eckfeldt in 1900. It was until July, 1907, called the Concord School, but the name was changed when the School moved to its present quarters. The School is intended as a high grade preparatory school for a limited number of boys, thus insuring advantages of home life and individual attention.

Advantages. The location and environment cannot be surpassed in New England. The buildings and grounds are on the southerly slope of Punkatasset Hill, overlooking the Concord River. The highest talent was employed in designing buildings and grounds for special uses of the School. The grounds extend over 18 acres and include ample facilities for athletic sports.

Courses of Study. The Courses of Study embrace English, Latin, Greek, French, German, Mathematics, History, Sciences.

Special Features. Its religious instruction is in accordance with the teaching of the Episcopal Church. Special attention is given to young boys with the object of fitting them to enter Middlesex, Groton, St. Mark's and other good preparatory schools.

THE COLLEGE of the Holy Cross

Worcester Mass.

THE OLDEST CATHOLIC COLLEGE of New England. Founded, 1843, and operating under charter issued by the Legislature of Massachusetts, 1865. Beautifully located on a commanding eminence in one of the most inspiring and healthful regions of America. The site occupies 160 acres of land and the various buildings compare favorably with those of any similar institution in the United States.

THE SYSTEM OF EDUCATION is that in use in all the Colleges of the Society of Jesus. The courses of instruction are laid down by men whose life work is education and the methods as demonstrated by practical experience, are natural, thorough and effective. These methods are wisely adapted from time to time, to meet all modern improvements. The aim of the system is to make profound thinkers, safe guides, clear writers, logical pleaders and cultured gentlemen.

THE CURRICULUM embraces Latin, Greek, English and one other modern language, Rhetoric, Literature, History, Mathematics, Chemistry, Geology, Astronomy, Mechanics, and a thorough training in Physics and Rational Philosophy. In the senior year, elective courses are offered in Jurisprudence (for those who propose to study law), Organic Chemistry, Biology and Laboratory Physics (for prospective students of medicine), and Pedagogy (for those who contemplate teaching), besides advanced French and German, Political Economy and Physiological Psychology.

THE FORMATION AND TRAINING OF CHARACTER is kept in view as one of the most important features. The professors live with the students, mingle with them constantly, interest themselves in their sports, direct their studies and maintain the relation of friends. For catalogue, address

PHILLIPS ACADEMY

ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS

Founded at Andover, Mass., 1778, by the gifts of Hon. Samuel Phillips and his uncle, Hon. John Phillips.

Others have added to the original foundations by endowments of several kinds, and various scholarships have been established. The latest of the larger benefactions is the establishment of an entire new Department of American Archaeology, with an imposing building, a valuable collection and a substantial endowment.

Phillips Academy has established very high repute for its broad scholarship, for its elevated ideals and especially for the practical success which has been obtained by its students.

In all the leading professions and every useful avenue of endeavor, its alumni are found among the leaders. In all the great colleges, and particularly Yale and Harvard, the graduates of this academy have for years been distinguished for their thoroughness of preparation, and success in their college work. The academy has also done a useful work in the education of boys who have not gone to college. Especially is it distinguished for its American, Democratic spirit; the sons of the wealthiest men in the country mingling with boys who are working their way through school.

The courses of the academy have thoroughly adjusted and adapted themselves to the highest collegiate requirements. The ability of its faculty, the excellence of its equipment, its library and laboratory facilities, the prestige of honorable history and other advantages and achievements have placed Phillips Academy in the front rank of American schools.

Ashburnham ☙ Worcester County ☙ Massachusetts

THOMAS PARKMAN CUSHING of Boston, a native of Ashburnham, Mass., died in 1864 leaving a large part of his estate to found a school in his native town. Cushing Academy, the result of his and other generous endowments, was incorporated in 1865, opened in 1875, and graduated its first class in 1877.

Five large buildings, including the Main building, one of the finest Academy buildings in the country, the Science Building, Lowe Hall, Parkman Hall and Jewett Hall, comprise the Academy premises, and the location being in the Mt. Wachusett region, is one of great healthfulness and natural beauty.

Young men and women are offered the best facilities for acquiring an education fitting for the leading colleges or preparing for the activities of business or domestic life. There are also excellent courses in music and art. The courses are thorough, the corps of instructors large and adequate, physical training accompanies the complete scholastic curriculum. Correct discipline, Christian influences, and wholesome surroundings conduce to the moral welfare of students.

Because of its endowments the charges for tuition, etc., are much lower than is usual at an institution of such a high scholastic grade. Two hundred and fifty dollars will cover all necessary school expenses for the year. Address inquiries to

Waban School

Waban, Massachusetts

Ten miles from Boston, in a picturesque location in open country. It offers an ideal school home for thirty boys, with a teacher for every five boys. Special features of the school are:

1. Individual attention in all departments.
2. A six-years' course of study, covering the last two years of the Grammar School and the four years of the ordinary high school, thus insuring continuity of work in the most important subjects and thoroughness in the foundation subjects. Our boys enter college in advanced standing.
3. An exceptional health record. The nature of our location, the efficiency of our physical training and the careful direction of athletics have conspired to bring us an unparalleled freedom from sickness. Manual training is required of all the boys.
4. The discipline of the school is such as to develop manliness of character and prepare the boy for the larger liberties of college or business life. Our record in this respect is equalled by few and surpassed by no other school.

Send for our illustrated circular.

AKELEY HALL

GRAND HAVEN, MICHIGAN

AKELEY HALL, a Church school, for girls, prepares for all colleges open to women. To students not preparing for college it offers a strong general course and there are special and elective courses in Music, Art, Voice Culture, and Modern Languages.

Regular systematic instruction is given in Bible and Church History.

A resident teacher gives instruction in practical Household Science. A large, well equipped gymnasium is under the direction of a resident instructor, who is a graduate of the Posse Gymnasium, Boston.

Gymnasium work and athletics form a prominent feature of the school life, and there are opportunities for a great variety of out-door sports.

The daily life is natural and happy. Every care is taken to insure the best possible physical development.

Attention is called to the advantages of the location, which is healthful and picturesque. Beautifully situated upon a height overlooking a park, Akeley Hall commands an extensive view of the town, the lake shore, and the surrounding country.

THE MICHIGAN MILITARY ACADEMY

Orchard Lake, Michigan

Any good boy who wants to attend a country boarding school will find here: a perfect site; clean country air; good board; fine buildings; sympathetic teachers; honest academic and military training; clean and manly boy companions; abundant opportunity for land and water sports; complete preparation for any college or scientific school.

We can train body, brain, and heart. We can make a boy proud of his bodily strength, ambitious for mental growth, systematic, orderly, prompt, obedient. We are not conducting a reform school, and no vicious boys are admitted or retained here; but a good, wholesome, energetic, noisy fellow is welcome, and is taught to respect the righ of others as well as to enjoy his own.

Every good boy who wants to live the most attractive and most profitable life that boys ever know in this world should come to Orchard Lake.

Write for catalogue or come to see us.

WHEATON SEMINARY

NORTON, MASSACHUSETTS

Rev. Samuel V. Cole, D. D., President

FOUNDED in 1834 by Judge Laban Wheaton, in memory of his daughter this seminary has been ranked as one of the foremost institutions in the country for the education of young women. It occupies a tract of about forty acres, is located in large and attractive buildings in the midst of trees and shrubbery, and is in the center of the village of Norton, thirty miles from Boston, seven miles from Taunton, and within six hours ride of New York.

Being an endowed institution the Seminary has always been able to secure the services of skillful and experienced instructors, as well as specialists who lecture upon varied educational themes. Thorough work and individual attention to the needs of each pupil make Wheaton famous for its educational results with its students.

The Seminary, though unsectarian, is thoroughly Christian, and with the training of mind and spirit is a parallel development of the body, through the facilities afforded by the new brick gymnasium, with resident instructor, and by tennis, basket ball, field hockey and golf.

There is a four years' college preparatory course and an advanced course of two years more for high school graduates and others who do not care to go to college. Native teachers in French and German and skilled instruction in Art and Music.

New dining hall and new brick dormitory in course of erection.

The large endowment fund makes moderate charges possible at Wheaton Seminary.

THE DETROIT CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

FRANCIS L. YORK, M. A., Director

MICHIGAN'S GREATEST CONSERVATORY

Established, 1874, by J. H. Hahn, and, since the death of the founder, continued under directorship of Mr. Francis L. York. Faculty of able and distinguished musical educators. Now located most delightfully in a new home which is admirably adapted for conservatory purposes.

The branches taught are pianoforte, violin, viola, voice culture, singing, organ, violoncello, public school music, harmony, composition, counterpoint, instrumentation, flute, clarinet, cornet, and all other orchestral instruments; also post-graduate courses in piano, violin, voice and modern languages.

The remarkable success and sound methods of the Detroit Conservatory have been recognized and commended by the foremost musicians of America. Situated in a city famous for beauty and healthfulness, where living costs much less than in the larger cities, the Conservatory offers unsurpassed opportunity for acquiring a sound musical education. The Phillips Exeter Academy

EXETER
NEW HAMPSHIRE

Candidates for admission to the Phillips Exeter Academy must be at least 14 years of age and must satisfy their instructors as to their fitness, either by examination or by certificates from former teachers. Every applicant must also furnish satisfactory evidence of good moral character.

The Phillips Exeter Academy was founded in 1781, by Dr. John Phillips and has since been continuously maintained as a preparatory school for boys.

¶ THE OBJECT OF THE ACADEMY is to furnish the elements of a solid education by thorough instruction in a few subjects. Students are dropped from any class, at any time, if they fail to do satisfactory work. The system of government encourages self control, truthfulness, a sense of honor and an interest in the purity and moral atmosphere of the School. The discipline is not adapted to boys who require severe restrictions.

¶ INSTRUCTION IS GIVEN in all subjects required for admission to leading colleges and scientific schools. The training is systematic and consecutive and students who honorably complete the course are awarded a diploma. College entrance examinations are held at the Academy in June of each year. In 1907, about 125 Exeter boys entered college, technical or professional schools. The certificate of the Academy is accepted by all colleges, scientific and professional schools which do not require entrance examinations.

¶ FORTY ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIPS and many tuition scholarships are awarded every year to needy students of high standing. The equipment of twenty-three buildings comprises recitation and residence halls, dining hall, gymnasium, laboratories and cottages. The playing fields cover 30 acres and contain running tracks, baseball diamonds, football fields and tennis courts. The equipment is entirely modern and complete. Catalogue containing detailed information mailed upon request.

Tilton Seminary

TILTON, NEW HAMPSHIRE

TILTON SEMINARY was founded in 1845. Nearly 8,000 students have been enrolled at this school.

THE MAIN BUILDING of the Seminary is 350 feet long and 3 stories high. Four new buildings have been added during the past three years. The equipment includes a gymnasium costing over $35,000. The School is fully equipped to prepare young men and women for college or to become self-supporting.

FOUR COMPLETE COURSES OF STUDY ARE OFFERED: Classical, Latin-Scientific, English-Scientific and Business Course, each of four years.

A PREPARATORY YEAR of study is available for pupils not prepared to enter any of the regular courses. The School is religious but not sectarian. Owing to liberal endowment, rates (including all necessary expenses) are exceedingly moderate. About 50 graduates are sent out from the School each year.

Catalogue mailed upon application.

GEORGE L. PLIMPTON, Principal

DARTMOUTH COLLEGE
HANOVER, N. H.

FOUNDED by royal charter, December 18, 1769. The charter of the College was an outgrowth of the plan of the Reverend Eleazar Wheelock for the education of Indians, which had its first development in the foundation in 1754 of More's Indian Charity School, at Lebanon, Connecticut.

¶ In 1816 the State attempted to gain control of the College. The case was fought through the lower courts, and finally carried to the Supreme Court of the United States. Mr. Webster, in an argument of great eloquence and power, presented the case of his Alma Mater. Decision favorable to the College was rendered by Chief Justice Marshall in 1819. This decision has been characterized as "in its effects more far-reaching and of more general interest than perhaps any other ever made in this country." The importance to the College was such that the recommendation of one of the Counsel in the case has been practically adopted: "I would have an inscription over the door of your building,—'Founded by Eleazar Wheelock, Refounded by Daniel Webster.'"

¶ The courses of instruction offered lead to the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and since the incorporation into the College of the Chandler School of Science and the Arts, in 1893, to the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The Associated Schools Are:

The Amos Tuck School of Administration and Finance

A Graduate School Offering Two Years of Special Preparation for Business Careers. Students of three years' undergraduate standing admitted to the work of the first year, which leads to the bachelor's degree. The work of this year lays a foundation for the specialized work of the second year. Students with the bachelor's degree admitted to the work of the second year, which leads to the degree of Master of Commercial Science.

The Thayer School of Civil Engineering

Established in 1871. Offers a general course of study and practice in Civil Engineering, so developed as to include the essential principles of all important branches through two years of professional preparation.

The Medical School

Established in 1797. The course covers four years of lectures, laboratory and recitation work, with clinics and ward classes at the Mary Hitchcock Memorial Hospital. This Hospital, widely known as one of the best cottage hospitals in the country, is under the management of physicians and surgeons who are connected with the Medical School.

PINKERTON AGADEMY

Holderness School for Boys

Holderness (P. O. Plymouth) New Hampshire

Holderness School was founded in 1879 and takes its name from the old town of Holderness, nestled among the foot hills of the White Mountains, and so famed in this country and abroad for its picturesque scenery. The school grounds are on a bluff 650 feet above sea level and overlook the Pemigewasset Valley towards the village of Plymouth. The neighboring woods and mountains are full of interest for the boys, when they are not at their studies or engaged in athletic sports either in the gymnasium or on the new athletic field which has recently been graded and laid out with a base ball diamond, a foot ball gridiron, tennis courts, and a quarter-mile running track.

The boys are housed in a brick building (which is to be enlarged in the summer of 1908 by an addition 54x41 ft.) which will accommodate 85 boys, together with the rest of the school household. The three dormitories are heated by steam and lighted by electricity and are well ventilated.

The older boys in the "Upper Dormitory" have rooms and the younger boys sleep in alcoves or cubicula. The school has every needful educational, sanitary, and recreative appliance.

The object of the school is to fit boys for college or the technical school or for business with such care and training and methods that their physical, moral and spiritual development will be safe-guarded and promoted as well as their mental culture. It belongs to the home type of school, and the old-fashioned ideas and ideals of American democracy dominate the life and spirit of the place.

The honor system prevails, and every boy is trusted as long as he proves himself worthy of confidence. Boys coming from other schools are required to bring testimonials of honorable dismissal.

The curriculum covers a systematic course of five years but ample provision is made for boys unable to enter the first form and for those desiring to take special branches. Opportunities for training in both vocal and piano music are afforded and the singing of the boy-choir in the school chapel, presented by Mrs. Zabriskie, of New York, has come to be regarded as one of the features of the school-life.

For catalogues, address the REV. LORIN WEBSTER, Rector.

THE COLBY ACADEMY

New London, New Hampshire

COLBY ACADEMY is situated 30 miles northwest of Concord, N. H., and 90 miles north of Boston. The Academy was founded in 1853 and received its present name in honor of the late Gov. Anthony Colby.

Many of the leading men of the United States have been students of this School. Among its graduates may be named, A. J. Gordon, D. D.; S. W. Duncan, D. D.; S. L. Whipple, Boston; Hon. H. Kirke Porter, M. C.; Hon. C. A. Pillsbury; Ex-Gov. J. Q. A. Brackett; Benj. Ide Wheeler, President University of California, etc.

Colby Academy owns four well equipped buildings, has a carefully selected library of 4,000 volumes and aims to present the influences of a well regulated Christian family with the advantage of skillfully directed intellectual discipline.

The Certificate of Colby Academy is received by all colleges represented by the New England College Entrance Certificate Board. Four courses of study, of four years each, are available—the Classical, Literary, Scientific and Commercial.

Colby Academy has kept abreast of the times by enlarging its curriculum to meet the demands of an advancing scholarship and a progressive age.

Blair Academy

BLAIRSTOWN, NEW JERSEY

Blair Academy was founded in 1848 by John I. Blair. It has been continuously maintained as a preparatory school for the best colleges and technical schools. Many improvements have been made from time to time, and the property now occupied comprises more than 50 acres of beautifully wooded land and ten or twelve buildings, a number of them large and imposing in appearance, and provided with every facility of a preparatory school of the highest class.

A completely equipped secondary School

The Curriculum covers four years of instruction and embraces two carefully arranged general courses: Classical and Scientific. Electives are offered which meet requirements of the various colleges.

The Academy is co-educational and girls are given equal facilities with boys in boarding accommodations and educational opportunities. The girls' dormitory is a handsome building of three stories, constructed almost entirely of stone and iron. The boys' dormitory is four stories high and has a frontage of 125 feet.

The School has new chemical and physical laboratories, separate gymnasiums for girls and boys, is equipped with steam heat, electric light plant, and supplied with absolutely pure artesian water and with pure milk from the farm owned by the School itself.

Although the School is Presbyterian, students of other denominations are welcomed, without any restraint upon their personal belief. Ample reference and reading libraries, literary societies; lecture course each year. Physical exercises in charge of specialists.

Only students of approved character received. The use of tobacco is absolutely forbidden. Applicants for admission must be at least 13 years of age.

Illustrated catalogue containing detailed statement of course of study, etc., upon application.

Kingsley School

ESSEX FELLS, NEW JERSEY

THE KINGSLEY SCHOOL, named after Charles Kingsley, was founded in 1900 as a boarding school for boys. The school aims to secure the symmetrical development of the boy so that body, mind and spirit may each yield its highest possibilities.

COURSES OF STUDY are so arranged as to meet the requirements of individual pupils and to prepare them for college.

LOCATED in a region of unusual beauty and healthfulness. Readily accessible from New York City, but remote from temptations of towns. Ample grounds surrounded by miles of open hill country and rare opportunity for out-door sports, under wise supervision. Large gymnasium with complete modern equipment. Physical instructor.

GROUPING OF BOYS for residence, according to age, is a feature of the School. Boys of 16 to 18 occupy the Senior House, boys of 13 to 16 the Middle House, and the Lower House is occupied by boys of 10 to 12. Each group treated according to its stage of development. All School buildings new and planned for school purposes.

Illustrated catalogue mailed upon application.

JAMES R. CAMPBELL, M. A. -:- -:- Headmaster

Lawrenceville School

Lawrenceville, New Jersey

Lawrenceville School is an endowed school for boys. It is distinctively a College Preparatory School, thoroughly preparing for any University, College or Technical School. It was originally founded on its present site in 1810 by the Rev. Isaac V. Brown. In 1839 it came under the control of the Rev. Samuel Hamill and the Rev. Hugh Hamill and was widely and favorably known as the Lawrenceville Classical and Commercial High School. In 1882 it was re-established by the Residuary Legatees of the John C. Green Estate, on "The John C. Green Foundation," since which time many new buildings have been erected.

Applicants for the First Form should be at least 12 years of age. Entrance examinations are required, but a brief probationary period is allowed before the final classification is made. The course of study embraces a period of five years. Every desirable modern facility is here presented for the development of the physical, intellectual, moral and spiritual welfare of the pupils. The equipment ranks with that of the best schools in the country.

The School is not sectarian, but the aim is to maintain the moral and religious influences of a Christian home in each house. Manliness, integrity, truthfulness and a true sense of honor are ends which the School keeps constantly in view. The endeavor is to inspire boys with a genuine reverence for what is sacred, and with self respect and self reliance.

Lawrenceville is situated 6 miles Northeast of Trenton, in a region noted for its healthful and equable climate and for the purity of its water. The property of the School includes over 250 acres of land and more than 20 buildings. Extensive play grounds are arranged with special reference to the various outdoor sports. The Gymnasium is one of the most complete and substantial structures of the kind in the country. Boys are carefully examined at least twice a year by the School Physician and the Physical Director as to their physical condition and development, and special forms of exercise are prescribed whenever necessary.

The members of the Fifth Form, or oldest class, to the number of 76, are accommodated in the Upper House. Pupils of all the other forms live in smaller houses, which accommodate from 8 to 32 pupils. The selection of the house depends in part upon the age of the pupil, the School advising that younger boys be assigned to the smaller houses, and in part upon the preference of patrons. Each of these groups of pupils forms a complete and separate household under the direct supervision and personal influence of a competent master, who is chosen with special reference to his qualifications for this work. Whenever the number of boys in a house exceeds 12, an assistant master also resides in it.

This system is an adaptation to American life of the method followed in many English Public Schools. The School maintains an infirmary presided over by a competent trained nurse, with such assistants as circumstances require. The School has a well selected library of about 5,000 standard works of reference and general literature. The entire income, whether derived from fees or from interest on endowment, is expended for the benefit of the pupils. The School, in addition to the various officers, has more than 30 Masters. As there is no hotel in the hamlet of Lawrenceville, the School maintains "The Lodge" for the accomodation of patrons in addition to that of the 10 boys who reside in it. An illustrated catalogue which gives a careful account of the School, its curriculum, methods and aims, will be mailed to any address upon application to the Head Master,

MORRISTOWN SCHOOL

MORRISTOWN, NEW JERSEY

The Morristown School is a college preparatory boarding school for boys. The regular course of study occupies six years There is also a department for boys of ten to twelve leading to the regular course.

A peculiarity of the school is its system of self-government. A committee of seven is elected by ballot each month. It is their duty to handle many questions connected with the School discipline. This system greatly assists in developing in all the boys a sense of co-operation and responsibility.

Modern buildings, excellent climate and ample grounds with generous provision for all the outdoor sports. Manual Training and Drawing is an important feature. Classes are small and individual attention is given.

The School stands for character, health, work and democratic ideals.

The Gymnasium is used for setting-up drill and in-door games during mid-winter term.

No boy is retained in the school unless his work and influence is up to the required standard.

MANHATTAN COLLEGE

Broadway and 131st Street, New York

Conducted by the Brothers of the Christian Schools

Incorporated, 1863, by the Regents of the University of the State of New York. Offers two courses of study, each comprising several courses leading to degrees. The courses in the Arts Department lead to degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts. The courses in the Science Department lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Science, Master of Science and Civil Engineer. This is one of the few Catholic colleges having a Department of Engineering.

Within these departments of study are courses specially adapted as preparatory to medicine, law and the teaching profession. Besides the College proper there is an Academic Department, comprising a four years' course preparatory to the Freshman class, and a Preparatory Department for boys of ten years or over, who desire to prepare for the Academic Department.

The College also has a Commercial Department, which provides for the wants of young men who intend to engage in mercantile pursuits. The College being conducted by a religious congregation, every attention is bestowed on the moral and religious teaching of the students. Although the College is Catholic in tone and teaching, it admits non-Catholic as well as Catholic students.

The Kent Place School

A Boarding and Day School for Girls

SUMMIT, NEW JERSEY

Founded in 1894 by gentlemen who desired to give their daughters opportunity to prepare for college or to receive a thorough general education, it offers both a college preparatory and an academic course. It is situated in a beautiful village, 20 miles from New York, and combines advantages of both country and city. The teachers are college women of successful experience. The certificate admits to the leading colleges for women. During the last eight years there have been 86 graduates, 46 of whom entered college.

The school offers a thorough course in music, with harmony, and meets the college requirement in that subject. Weekly lessons in art and class singing are continued through the entire course. A resident trained director has charge of the physical exercises in the new and well-equipped gymnasium and of the outdoor sports on the large grounds.

Book of the Kent Place School with portfolio of views sent to persons interested.

The school is undenominational but Christian.

THE VELTIN SCHOOL

FOR GIRLS . . . . NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

Mademoiselle Louise Veltin
Mrs. Isabelle Dwight Sprague-Smith } Principals

The Veltin School was founded by Mademoiselle Veltin in 1886. It is a day school for girls. The faculty is composed of eminently successful teachers who make a special study of the needs of each pupil and have the ability to apply the proper incentives for the highest attainment. The number of pupils is limited to twelve in each class.

Primary, College Preparatory and General Courses.

Students are admitted at any age and are prepared for admission to Bryn Mawr, Vassar, Barnard, Wellesley and other colleges. The General Course gives opportunity for a wide range of electives, adapted to the ability and taste of the individual. Many lectures are given during the year by university specialists. Sight reading in music and a complete system of physical training are features of the School. Self-government is successfully applied in higher classes.

The School occupies a modern fireproof building erected especially for its use, and located at 160-162 W. 74th Street, and connecting with and including 165 W. 73d Street. It is well lighted, ventilated by fans, heated by steam, and has assembly hall, study rooms, class and recitation rooms, laboratory, studio, and gymnasium with ventilated locker for each student. Senior Hall, connected with the main building by a wide corridor, is devoted to the use of the Senior Department, and has a large reference library and complete appliances for illustrating the various subjects.

The Art Department of The Veltin School is conducted as an independent feature and has attained a wide reputation on account of the excellent facilities presented, and the unusual ability of its instructors.

This Department is located in the same building as the Veltin School, occupying an entire floor of the building, arranged especially for art study. The aim is to awaken the mind of the student to the beauty in nature and art, to stimulate the creative faculty and to train the eye, hand and memory. A complete course has been established in drawing from life, composition, anatomy, painting and sketching; also in wood sculpture and modeling. Students in the Art Department come from all parts of the United States.

OSSINING SCHOOL

A BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

This school has now reached the 40th year of its history. It was founded by Miss Sarah M. Van Vleck, who was its first principal.

High standards are maintained, and the school has an established reputation for its excellent system, its effective, though kindly, discipline, and the thoroughness of its four courses, each covering four years and embracing all branches of a liberal education.

The Academic Course is unusually complete in required and optional studies; the Special Classical Course is especially designed for students preparing to enter college; the Art Course covers all branches of the subject and related studies; the Music Course is divided into six grades, covering from three to six years.

Individual attention to each pupil is secured by careful limitation of the number of pupils accepted. The school has a full faculty of experienced, competent teachers.

The buildings are commodious and stand in large, well shaded grounds, commanding a charming view. The buildings consist of a large main structure; Naramore Hall which, together with the main building, supplies a home for about eighty girls over fifteen years of age; Hampton Hall, for younger girls; and an annex for use of teachers only. The warming and sanitary arrangements are complete, the scholastic equipment is comprehensive and modern, and there is a perfectly equipped gymnasium with a competent resident instructor. For catalogues, etc., address

Mount Pleasant Academy

A PREPARATORY SCHOOL WITH MILITARY TRAINING

OSSINING - ON - HUDSON, N. Y.

ALUMNI and friends of Mount Pleasant Academy will be interested in this advertisement, issued by the trustees of this school over eighty years ago. The Academy's purpose, as then announced, to be a boarding school for boys, with preparation for college and the "various stages of life," has not changed through the years. Time has brought necessary changes in the curriculum and equipment, but the underlying purpose of the founders, as here expressed, has been strictly adhered to for nearly a century. In these latter years of the school's greatest prosperity, it is pleasing to know that our efforts to carry out the aim of its founders have met with such practical endorsement.

If you are interested in such an old-fashioned school, (founded 1814), send for beautiful catalogues and booklets, showing Mount Pleasant as it is today.

MOUNT PLEASANT ACADEMY.

IN this Seminary the Academic year will commence on the 1st May next. The Trustees therefore respectfully beg leave to recommend it to the public, as an institution where youth are taught, by easy gradation, from the first rudiments of knowledge to the higher classics, sufficient to qualify them for admission into any of the American colleges, and more particularly for the Columbia College, in the city of New-York; or prepare them for the various stages of life.

Teachers have been procured of the first respectability, who have had the institution under their charge during the last session, and have given general satisfaction.

The English Department is conducted under the direction and superintendence of Mr. C. Bacon, and the Classical Department under the direction of Mr. D. P Bacon.

The Academy is pleasantly situated on the banks of the Hudson, within 33 miles of the city of New-York, in a healthy village, possessing many local advantages: among others a daily communication with the city, either by land or water; good medical advice, and the use of several churches.

Board may be procured in the family of the principal of the institution, at the rate of from 25 to 30 dollars per quarter, including tuition; or with respectable private families residing near the institution, on moderate terms.

The price of tuition per qr
In classics and mathematics $5 00
In the English department from $4 00 to 2 50
Including the English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, Bookkeeping, &c.

Further information may be obtained by applying to the hon. Edward Kemeys, President of the institution, at Mount Pleasant, Westchester county. In the city of New-York, James Smith, Esq. Vesey-st. Doctor N. Brush, Hudson-street, and Mr. John Walsh, teacher of Languages, corner of Chatham and Roosevelt-streets.

THE BUFFALO SEMINARY

A Private High School for Girls
BUFFALO . NEW YORK

Founded in 1850 by the eminent educator, Dr. Charles E. West, afterwards founder of the Brooklyn Heights Seminary. For 50 years the Seminary occupied its own well-equipped buildings on Delaware Avenue and Johnson Park, but in 1900 the growth of the city compelled its removal up town. Plans are now completed for a beautiful new Seminary building in the Tudor style, to be erected in Bidwell Parkway leading to Delaware Park, the Art Gallery and the Historical Building. Meantime, awaiting the completion of this new home, the Seminary is occupying the Heathcote School Building, 623 Delaware Avenue, between the Twentieth Century Club and North Street.

TWO COURSES OF STUDY are offered: The COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE, the diploma of which admits without examination to the leading colleges, and the ENGLISH COURSE in which the emphasis is placed upon History and Science. The successful completion of either course entitles the student to a diploma.

ALL MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY ARE COLLEGE TRAINED and of several years' successful experience in teaching. The teachers of modern languages are native instructors. Physical training, in a fully equipped modern gymnasium, and instruction in choral singing are both given under trained directors.

THE INDIVIDUALITY OF EACH STUDENT, her special gifts and peculiar needs are carefully taken into account, to the end that, in Matthew Arnold's phrase, she may be able "to think clear, feel deep, bear fruit well." For catalogue or other information, address

MISS L. GERTRUDE ANGELL, B. S., PRINCIPAL

Saint John's School

MANLIUS, NEW YORK

WILLIAM VERBECK, M. A., PRESIDENT

Saint John's School was founded at Manlius in 1869 by the late Bishop Frederic D. Huntington.

For nineteen years it has been under the same President, who has patterned it after the great English schools, Harrow, Rugby and especially Winchester, from which it has borrowed, among other good things, its ancient motto: "Manners makyth man."

As a college preparatory school, Manlius has followed the distinctive features of Saint Paul's School, Concord, interwoven with the best traditions of West Point.

The School is located among the hills of Central New York, eleven miles from Syracuse. The buildings are on high ground with excellent natural drainage. The immediate locality, as well as the region surrounding it, is extremely healthful. The buildings are comfortable, the school plant complete, and the grounds extensive.

The War Department has designated Saint John's as a "Distinguished Institution" and one of the six leading military schools and colleges "whose students have exhibited the greatest interest, application and proficiency in military training and knowledge" and therefore entitled to the annual appointment, without examination, of an honor graduate as a second lieutenant in the Army.

Saint John's offers exceptional opportunities to pupils to become expert in that most valuable branch of military education, Cavalry. The school is in a position to present, for rental, a large number of valuable animals, well broken, gentle and carefully selected.

Pupils who elect cavalry are formed into a troop, completely organized and equipped according to the best traditions of the Army.

WITHIN EASY ACCESS of all parts of the city, and of the great libraries and museums. Opportunity given for attendance at public entertainments of educational and artistic value.

THOROUGH AND CONSERVATIVE TRAINING, moral, intellectual and physical, with expert supervision in every department, thus insuring definite and certain results.

FACULTY LARGE, each teacher a specialist; and pupils assured the individual attention adapted to their respective needs.

PRIMARY, PREPARATORY AND ACADEMIC DEPARTMENTS; also a unique department known as the UPPER HOUSE, for graduate and special students desiring to spend the winter in New York in a congenial social atmosphere, under the most favorable conditions for culture of social graces and for intelligent advancement. The UPPER HOUSE is in a large degree free from the ordinary restrictions of a school.

BEST ADVANTAGES of New York available for the study of Music, Art, Elocution, Languages and Dancing.

PHYSICAL EXERCISES. Special attention given with the object of promoting health, grace and ease of motion and repose of manner. The gymnastic exercises are in charge of a graduate of Dr. Sargent, of Cambridge, Mass. SUMMER CAMP in New Hampshire.

THE SUCCESS OF THE SCHOOL has been so pronounced that it has received the highest commendation of the leading educators of the country as well as of the highest officials of the U. S. Government; Miss Bangs and Miss Whiton refer by permission to the presidents of ten colleges and universities and to President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks, Secretary of War and Mrs. Taft, and the Chief Justice.

Mohegan Lake School

MILITARY

Mohegan Westchester County New York

Established in 1880 to prepare young men for college and for business life, Mohegan Lake School has won its high position by a persistent adherence to its ideals. It enjoys the approval of its patrons and the love of its students and its alumni.

Careful Selection of Students is a primary factor in the success of the school. No boy is received without satisfactory evidence that he is worthy of a place in a refined home.

Scholarship is secured by the scholastic and pedagogic ability of the instructors, and also by their personal character and their sympathy with boy life. The aim is to develop manliness and maturity of thought and character by giving attention to the individual needs of the students.

Military Discipline is introduced as a part of each day's life because drill and routine are conducive to habits of promptness, obedience, and system, and besides promote physical culture and secure erectness of carriage. Military work, however, is never permitted to interfere with scholastic duties.

The Location of the School is ideal. It is on the banks of Lake Mohegan, a beautiful sheet of water one and one-half miles long, half a mile wide, and nearly 500 feet above the Hudson River level. The situation is healthful, sanitary arrangements most modern, and the buildings well fitted and excellently adapted to the needs of a school. The School is forty-five miles from New York City, in the beautiful region of the highlands of the Hudson.

West Hall, a new three-story dormitory for seniors, accommodates 28 cadets, two teachers and one of the principals. It is a handsome structure, of colonial style, furnished in hardwood, heated by hot water and lighted by acetylene gas. The building has four bathrooms.

The Courses of Study prepare boys for all colleges, universities, and scientific schools, or for business life. There is a four-year Senior course and a two-year Junior course to prepare students for the Senior course.

The Home Life is cordial and refined. It is under Christian though unsectarian influences.

Athletics receive intelligent application at this school. The lake gives opportunity for swimming, rowing and hockey and a large athletic field is utilized for base ball, foot ball, military drills, parades, etc. Out door sports and exercises in the pure air of the country, under safe and skilled supervision are important features of the school life.

A New Sewerage System has recently been put in, according to plans of expert engineers. This makes the plant, in all its details, in accordance with the ideas of modern sanitary science.

Briarcliff Manor . . . New York

Miss Knox's School was established in the fall of 1903 and is located in the well known Briarcliff farm region, 29 miles from New York. It is within convenient distance of three railways leading from the city and possesses advantages of a healthful country, abounding in beautiful walks and drives.

The School gives thorough preparation for college and also presents a wide list of studies for girls who desire to complete their school training without going to college. The departments include Greek, Latin, French, German, English, Literature, History, Philosophy, Bible, History of Art, Science and Mathematics. Each department is in charge of a specialist.

No prescribed course is laid down for students who do not prepare for college. The natural ability and wants of the student are taken into consideration, in deciding in each case, and the teaching force is large enough to meet this requirement.

Provision is made for daily exercise and recreation. Physical exercises are in charge of a trained director. A number of concerts and lectures are given at the school, and public entertainments, art galleries and museums of New York are utilized as important adjuncts to the various studies.

HUME SCHOOL

New Rochelle, New York

A Catholic School for Boys

Hume School was established in 1906 for the purpose of giving a thorough preparation for any college or university in the United States or England. Boys may enter between the ages of ten and fourteen years. The Headmaster makes a careful selection of applicants and feels personally responsible for the manners and morals of every boy admitted. Each boy is trained according to the needs of his individual character and intellect. The atmosphere and surroundings of a refined Catholic home are maintained as far as possible in the school. Religious instruction is given by the parish priest, who visits the school once a week; non-Catholic boys enjoy the same advantages as others, with the exception of this instruction, which they are not required to attend. Athletics in the gymnasium and on the field are conducted by experienced "college graduates" and substitute "masters." The school is located near the shores of Long Island Sound, and may be reached within an hour from New York by motor-car or train. The neighborhood is entirely healthful; the water is supplied from spring-fed lakes enclosed in a preserve of two thousand acres. Terms: Eight hundred dollars a year.

A BOARDING SCHOOL FOR YOUNG BOYS

Established 1901, by Arthur DeLancey Ayrault, for four years master at St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and for five years master at St. Paul's School, Garden City, N. Y.

Located 22 miles from New York City on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Prepares young boys for the larger boarding schools. Boys who apply to the larger boarding schools and are not old enough to enter are referred to Heathcote Hall.

Objects of the School: To encourage physical and mental growth, to develop Christian character, and to lay a solid foundation for a thorough education.

Pupils received at seven to fifteen years of age and entered at any time during the year when there are vacancies. Boys taken into family of Head Master and given constant supervision. The number of boys in each class is limited, insuring individual attention.

New building, just finished, will accommodate 26 boys.

The Masters are college graduates and teachers of special skill in educating and directing young boys.

FOR GIRLS

Mrs. Loucks' Resident and Day School, Flushing, New York

Ten Miles From New York City

FOR GIRLS

FOUNDED, 1887, as the Flushing Seminary. The School has been under present management for ten years.

LOCATED in the heart of New York's most charming suburb, a restricted residential district of Long Island, the School presents advantages of city combined with freedom of the country. Five acres of beautifully wooded grounds. Water supplied from Metropolitan System, one of the best in the world.

PROVIDED WITH EVERY FACILITY of a high class school. Ample buildings, with large, airy rooms. Plumbing modern and regularly inspected. Table and household service like those of well ordered home. Rules few and leading to self control. Only a limited number of pupils received, so that individual attention is assured for each pupil.

PREPARES FOR ALL COLLEGES. The course is so practical, not only in book education but in domestic science, that a Seminary girl, upon her graduation, is qualified to entertain the world's greatest, to make for herself a complete outfit, or cook her own dinner. Special courses in modern languages, music and advanced English, for girls not intending to go to college. The School is strong in social and religious training and its home influence will be felt throughout life.

TEACHES PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT under a trained director, for health, personal attractiveness and ease of carriage. Special arrangements made for board and care of students' own horses if desired.

HOOSAC SCHOOL

HOOSAC, NEW YORK

Preparatory School For Boys

OBJECT.—The object of Hoosac School is to provide a thorough and liberal education for boys preparing for college or business career. The School is conducted under the religious teachings of the Episcopal Church and enrollment is restricted to such limits that each boy receives individual attention.

LOCATION.—The location and surroundings of the School are ideal, and during recent years extensive improvements have been completed so that the school buildings, with exception of the Gymnasium, are so arranged as to form a "Quad" with the School House in the center. Ample playgrounds, running track, excellent facilities for baseball, football, swimming, skating, and all health-giving athletic exercises.

COURSE OF STUDY.—It is the desire of the rector to take boys at the age of eleven or twelve years and carry them through until they are ready for college. A boy should be entered at least as early as his twelfth year. The School has six Forms and a scientifically arranged course of study extending over six years.

A competent physician is in attendance at the School and a matron gives personal attention to the boys.

School catalogue and illustrated pamphlet mailed upon application.

Pawling School

PREPARATORY SCHOOL FOR BOYS

Pawling, New York

Pawling School Was Founded By Dr. Frederick Luther Gamage in 1907

Ninety-two boys in attendance the first year.

The object of the school is the thorough preparation of boys for college and the scientific schools, to which is added such training as shall strengthen the body and develop a manly Christian character.

The course of instruction is designed to cover five years, and is organized and directed by men of known experience and ability.

The faculty has general supervision of all outdoor sports. In the belief that systematic bodily exercise is as necessary for the full development of boys as mental drill, no effort will be spared to interest every boy in manly recreation. Games will never be allowed to assume first place, but will be used as a means toward true education.

Pawling, sixty-five miles from New York City, on the Harlem Division of the New York Central Railroad, is situated among the picturesque hills of Dutchess County, 700 feet above sea level. The air is pure, dry and invigorating. Visitors are always welcome.

ST. AGNES SCHOOL — Albany, N. Y.

The Corning Foundation for Christian work in the Diocese of Albany was incorporated in 1873. St. Agnes School was the first work undertaken by the Trustees, and its only educational work.

∴

The School was founded in 1870 by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Doane.

ST. AGNES SCHOOL occupies large buildings, situated on high ground, designed, built for, and thoroughly adapted to, school needs.

The arrangements for Boarding Pupils are unusual and are considered a great advance upon the usual boarding school standards. They are such as careful parents heartily approve. Especial attention is given to health.

There is a Lower School and a Middle School, covering the entire education of a girl up to a thorough preparation for college. There is also an Upper School which offers more advanced work to more mature students, to graduates of which the St. Agnes Diploma is awarded. It is all under the supervision of the Bishop of Albany.

Peekskill Academy

The Oldest Endowed Civic Military Academy in the United States

Peekskill-on-Hudson New York

History The Peekskill Academy was founded in 1833. It owed its foundation to the liberality of a few citizens of Peekskill, and is not a proprietary school. It is managed by a self-perpetuating Board of Trustees who devote all income to permanent improvements. The latest of its larger gifts is a splendid new gymnasium with running track; Athletic Field ($25,000); and Alumni Hall ($85,000).

Graduates The last (1904) Alumni Directory contained the names of nearly 3,000 graduates and former students of the Academy. These have taken high rank in public life, the learned professions and the business world.

Enrollment During the session of 1907-1908, the number of students in attendance was 160 representing fifteen states and seven countries.

Courses of Study The classical and scientific courses, covering two years in the Lower School and four in the Upper School, prepare for college according to Yale, Princeton and Harvard standards. The diploma from these courses admits without examination to a long list of colleges. A specially broad and difficult commercial course is offered those contemplating entering business without a college course.

The Honor System and Democratic Spirit The development of the 'Honor System' in examinations as a natural result of the military system is a matter of reasonable pride. The Academy's school spirit has always been remarkably democratic.

Military Training Military organization was introduced in 1857 and has continued since then without interruption. An Army Officer is regularly detailed by the War Department and an additional Tactical Officer is also engaged. Only the disciplinary and physical features of the system are emphasized.

References A long list of prominent public men and educators who personally endorse the character and work of the Academy will be furnished on request. A few are:

University School

In its record of seventeen years, the graduates of the school have presented themselves for admittance at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell and other Colleges, in over 2,000 EXAMINATION SUBJECTS. Of these examinations, the School's candidates at the first trial have passed in 94 PER CENT. Of its graduates entering Yale, during the last five years 84 PER CENT have passed, clear of conditions.

It is believed that this is an exceptional record.

The school equipment is unusually complete; its curriculum is broad and thoroughly administered. In addition to the usual college preparation, courses in Manual Training, Shop Work, Science and Instrumental Music are maintained.

The school's record in physical training and individual development equals its scholarship record. Athletic sports are given legitimate attention and safe-guarded from excess and abuse. The school has an honorable record in athletic championships.

In its dormitories, provision is made for right-minded boys of all ages.

Tuition fees, for boarding pupils, from $450 to $600. For catalogue, address GEORGE D. PETTEE, Principal.

EASTMAN National Business College was established at Poughkeepsie, 1859, by Harvey Gridley Eastman, LL. D., who also organized schools at Oswego, N. Y., 1856; St. Louis, 1858, and Chicago, 1865; all afterward consolidated with the school now incorporated under the name of EASTMAN. Mr. Eastman's life of distinguished usefulness closed July 12, 1878, but his ideals and methods have been maintained with undeviating fidelity and further developed, by successors who uphold the undisputed precedence among business schools which EASTMAN has held for 50 years.

The EASTMAN School in New York was established, 1892, by Clement Carrington Gaines, M. A., B. L., to meet the growing demand in the City of New York for a practical school conducted under Eastman methods. Mr. Gaines is president of both corporations. Henry Venable Gaines is principal of the school in New York, which is one of the most attractive structures in the most aristocratic neighborhood of Upper New York.

The EASTMAN Academic, Business, Civil Service, Shorthand, Typewriting, Telegraph, Penmanship and Correspondence Schools present curricula conforming to the most advanced modern standards, and their graduates and students are in demand for responsible positions by leading business firms and corporations throughout America.

Both schools were registered in June, 1898, by the University of the State of New York, and meet the Regents' requirements for the State Business Diploma. They are comfortably and adequately housed with surroundings and equipment appropriate to their pre-eminence in this special educational field.

The EASTMAN method inculcates completing everything begun and doing perfectly whatever is to be done. The system provides for individual and personal attention to pupils, so that each receives separate and private instruction at his desk. All books, stationery and appliances are of the most approved type recognized in actual business experience. Many of the most successful business men of America are graduates of EASTMAN.

ST. LUKE'S SCHOOL FOR BOYS

"A thorough and honest school, the kind of school to which sensible parents desire to send their sons"
—BISHOP WHITAKER

WAYNE, PA. 14 Miles from Philadelphia

FOUNDED 1863 at Fox Chase as Ury House School, removed 1884 to Bustleton, Pa., and named St. Luke's. Outgrowing the accommodation there it was removed in 1902 to its permanent home at Wayne. ¶ For forty-five years (twenty-five years under present principal) St. Luke's has been eminently successful as a school for boys. Its singularly attractive home life combined with careful individual instruction promotes contentment, high scholarship and correct habits of study. ¶ The buildings are new and specially planned to meet every requirement for health and comfort. ¶ The locality is remarkable for healthfulness, natural beauty, and freedom from undesirable influences, and combines in an unusual degree the advantages of country and city. ¶ The gymnasium contains swimming pool, shower baths and complete apparatus. ¶ The grounds comprise thirty acres, including large athletic field with quarter-mile cinder track and facilities for all outdoor games. Boys prepared for any college or for business. For Illustrated Catalogue, address

Then come to The College of Music of Cincinnati (endowed). Its standard of excellence is equalled only by one or two of the best European institutions.

Its broad plan of education, the unquestioned superiority of its faculty, the uniform excellence and success as teachers and executants of its graduates, have given to its pre-eminent reputation for thorough instruction.

The college combines the seriousness of high artistic aim, with the vivacity, the charm and color of life in a big colony of clever people. There's the stimulus of brilliant instructors and talented fellow students that makes study fascinating.

There are concerts by the faculty, students' concerts, dramatic performances, all given on a real stage, in the charming college hall, before audiences of cultured people—everything calculated to develop the student's talent and teach him how to use it. MIAMI UNIVERSITY OXFORD—OHIO

HISTORY.—Provided for in the famous Ordinance of 1787. Its foundation was laid in 1792, when, while the Ohio Valley was almost an untrodden wilderness, the Congress of the United States reserved a tract between the two Miami Rivers to be devoted to the purposes of higher education. Established in 1809 and formally organized in 1824.

LOCATION.—Located in the classic old village of Oxford. Beautiful and healthful environment. Free from the disadvantages of the city, yet possessing many of its advantages. Has one of the most beautiful college campuses in America.

EQUIPMENT.—Supported by the Commonwealth of Ohio. Free tuition. Three Departments. A scholarly and sympathetic Faculty. Fine Buildings. Others in course of erection. Exceptional laboratory facilities. Excellent Gymnasium and Athletic Field. The highest educational advantages given at a minimum expense.

GRADUATES AND ALUMNI.—Miami University numbers among her nineteen hundred alumni some of the nation's greatest men—President Benjamin Harrison, Honorable Whitelaw Reid, Senator Calvin Brice, Murat Halstead, Doctor David Swing and others. She has made large contribution to the civilization of her state and nation. Those who desire to attend a conservative college, where the student meets intimately his teachers, should write for catalogue to

"Give instruction unto him who cannot obtain it for himself"—Confucious

TEMPLE UNIVERSITY is a natural outgrowth of one of the most active church organizations of Philadelphia. Founded in an humble way, twenty-four years ago, the institution now enrolls more than 3,500 students in a year, and has gained wide recognition as a practical and progressive center, where young men and women are being prepared for successful contact with the battle of life.

Located in one of the greatest educational cities of America, the opportunity of securing teachers of the highest talent is unexcelled, and more than 200 instructors are devoting their abilities in advancing the interest of the University. It is literally a hive of industry whose blessings are felt in hundreds of communities and thousands of homes. A peculiarity of the institution is that it gives instruction in all branches, from the kindergarten up to the highest University grades, including complete courses in Law, Medicine, Theology, Dentistry and Pharmacy.

Here, in a University for the people, opportunity is given the student to rise to the highest intellectual plane and become a real benefactor of his race. The University is unsectarian, but it is conducted under strong moral and religious influence, and students of all denominations are upon absolutely equal footing. Young men and women are admitted to all classes.

Temple University is the pioneer in offering students the privilege of entering either DAY or EVENING classes and accomplishing the same results. The student may obtain any one of the following courses:

University Grade. College Course, leading to the degrees A. B., B. S.
Law Course, leading to the degree LL. B.
Theological Course, leading to the degree B. D.
Medical Course, leading to the degree M. D.
Dental Course, leading to the degree D.D.S.
Pharmacy Course, leading to the degree Phar. D.
Civil Engineering Course, leading to the degree C. E.

Preparatory Grades. For College, Theology, Law, Medicine, Dentistry.

Courses in Business Education. Including Bookkeeping, Stenography, Salesmanship, Telegraphy, Advertising, Real Estate and Conveyancing.

Teachers' Courses. Preparing instructors for Kindergartens, the Grade Schools, and departments of Physical Training, Domestic Arts and Sciences.

Technical Courses. In Chemistry, Mechanical and Architectural Drawing, Sheet-metal work.

Art Courses. In Painting, Music, Oratory, Elocution.

The catalogue tells a most interesting story of remarkable things that are being performed in this age of marvelous accomplishments. It shows that all Temple University now needs is to arouse the interest of philanthropic men and women of large means, who may feel impelled to assist in the erection of additional buildings; for the institution is intensely alive. There is urgent need of a university building.

Visitors are cordially invited to call. Catalogue upon application.

YEATES SCHOOL

LANCASTER -:- -:- PENNSYLVANIA

ENDOWMENT AND AIM.—Yeates School is an endowed School for boys. It is a continuation of a school founded by Rev. Dr. Coit, afterwards first rector of St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and was endowed in 1857 by Miss Catharine Yeates. The building of character is the primary object, and for that purpose the school is limited to 60 boys in order that each boy may have that individual attention which is necessary for thorough work and proper regard for manners and morals.

LOCATION AND FACILITIES.—Located near Lancaster, 1½ hours from Philadelphia, on an estate of 109 acres, the school possesses advantages of both city and country. The buildings are modern and are heated by steam and lighted by electricity. The best system of plumbing and ventilation is employed. Large gymnasium, cinder track, football and basketball fields, tennis courts, golf links. A beautiful stream running for two miles through the place gives skating, swimming and canoeing. All athletics under eye of masters who join the boys in their sports.

COURSE OF STUDY.—The Course of Study is broader than the ordinary college preparatory. It embraces six forms, the Sixth Form corresponding to the Freshman year in some colleges. Special attention is given to manual training under the Todd System, the only one which develops originality and the creative instinct in the boy. The large library of the Head Master is at the service of the pupils; also 500 volumes of reference books. Lantern slides are constantly used to illustrate studies, and frequent illustrated lectures by visiting experts.

A school trip to some localities of historic interest is part of each year's work.

Physical training, under a competent instructor, including gymnastic work, field sports and out door recreation is required of every boy. The Recreation Building is a unique feature of the Chestnut Hill Academy. Under one roof are provided a large base ball cage, a room for tennis and basket ball, a squash court and dressing room. The gymnasium, swimming pool and locker rooms are in a separate building. The gymnasium, 47 feet wide and 90 feet long, is provided with all desirable apparatus. The swimming pool, 30 feet wide and 81 feet long, is lined with marble and surrounded by a broad marble pavement. It is one of the largest and handsomest swimming pools in the East. The School has two athletic fields with a running track, and the tennis courts and cricket field of the Philadelphia Cricket Club, adjoining the school grounds, are open free of charge, to all boarding pupils.

The religious teachings of the school conform to the principles of the Episcopal Church. In 1907, out of 10 boys trying for college, there were only 3 conditions. A handsomely illustrated catalogue may be obtained by addressing the Head Master,

Are You Satisfied With Yourself?

If you are, this will not interest you.

We want to get in touch with Boys and Young Men who are NOT SATISFIED with what they are; boys who are ambitious, who want to grow; young men who are looking for SOMETHING BETTER, and who are in earnest to fit themselves to be successful men. We can help them. We help them TO KNOW that SUCCESS IS IN THEMSELVES—that no man fails of success UNLESS HE IS WILLING TO BE UNSUCCESSFUL. We can help you. We have been particularly successful in preparing boys for college—not because we have a better school than others, but because we get the boys to be in earnest, to BELIEVE IN THEMSELVES. A college training will multiply YOUR chances of success—will open up new opportunities. Of the men in this country past thirty, it is said that only one in fifty has a college education, yet THREE-FOURTHS of the leading and best-paying positions are filled by college men. Education alone will not insure success. With it there must be PURPOSE, PUSH and PERSISTENCY. If you have these, go to college. If you lack them, don't wait, GET THEM.

We prepare for any College or University.

FAIRMOUNT SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

A SUMMER SCHOOL
Monteagle, Tennessee

A home school for girls, delightfully situated on a spacious domain in the mountains of Tennessee, at an elevation of 2,000 feet above sea level. By reason of the cool and invigorating climate of this plateau, the School is enabled to continue in full session through Spring, Summer and Autumn with only a short recess between terms in August; while the long vacation falls in Winter, from just before Christmas to the end of March.

Fairmount represents a serious effort to furnish to a limited number of selected students thorough individual instruction based upon personal contact and sympathy, in an atmosphere of Christian culture and refinement, amid congenial surroundings and under most healthful conditions. To the success of this effort the unique and delightful system of Summer term and Winter vacation has largely contributed. Number of places limited. Those applying for admission must be introduced to the Principal. Pupils expected to be in attendance on the opening days in April and August.

Norwich University

The Military College of the State of Vermont

NORTHFIELD . . . . . VERMONT

Norwich University was founded in 1819, as the American Literary, Scientific and Military Academy, by Capt. Alden Partridge, U. S. A., who resigned his commission in the army in order to establish an academy for the education of citizen soldiery. From the first, the institution was highly popular and attracted students from all parts of the country. The Academy was chartered by the Vermont Legislature as the Norwich University, in 1834, and removed to Northfield where it has since remained, in 1866. It was the first Scientific and Classical, as well as the first Military Collegiate Institution, in the United States.

Norwich University has been noted throughout its long career of nearly 100 years for the thoroughness of its teaching and the high standing of its graduates. More than 500 men from "Norwich" held commissions in the army during the Civil War and graduates have attained wide distinction in all branches of engineering. Many leaders in the pulpit, in law, politics, business, education, journalism, literature, medicine and surgery received their impulse in the class room of Norwich University.

Under recent orders from the War Department, "honor graduates" of Norwich University are eligible to commission as army officers without mental examination. "Norwich" is one of the six military institutions classified by the War Department as "distinguished." Candidates for admission must be at least 16 years of age and not less than five feet in height. The courses of study lead to all the degrees granted by colleges of the best class.

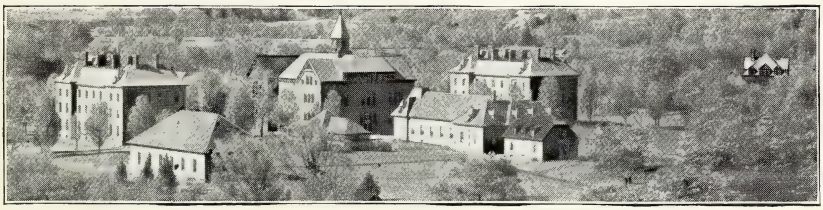
VERMONT ACADEMY

SAXTON'S RIVER, VERMONT



Prepares Boys and Girls for any College or for Actual Business Life

VERMONT ACADEMY was founded in 1874 and for many years has been known as one of the leading academies of New England. It is located at Saxton's River, 114 miles from Boston. The Academy occupies a beautiful site in the foothills of Green Mountains. The purest of water is supplied from springs in the mountains. Fresh vegetables and farm products are furnished from the large farm owned by the school.

THE BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT of the Academy are ample and modern. Buildings are lighted by electricity and heated by steam from a central plant. Bath rooms on every floor of the dormitories. Boys are given systematic military training. Girls thoroughly inducted into domestic science. Work shops, forge and photographic darkroom for manual training.

A LARGE AND WELL SELECTED LIBRARY is an important feature of the School. Instructors have all had large experience. Resident trained nurse in the School.

THE COURSES OF STUDY are planned to meet requirements of students coming from different localities. A five-year course is adapted for young students, and the regular college preparatory course extends over four years. An attractive special course of three years is offered in music. For further particulars, address

OF

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA

¶ Notwithstanding the fact that the value of each edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA for up-to-date reference in regard to the living notables of the country is entirely supplanted by the succeeding new edition, the old volumes gain, year by year, in historical and reminiscent usefulness. The latest volume will, of course, always present the living with such increased completeness as to be indispensable for daily reference, yet the old editions become more and more valuable as records of those who have died, many of which it would be difficult, if not impossible, to find elsewhere. This fact is meeting with wide recognition, so that public, institutional and private libraries are keeping the old volumes as a series of the utmost value for presenting, with a completeness nowhere else attainable, the biographical history of the United States and all its varied interests and activities.

You should keep a complete file of Who's Who in America—from the first volume to the latest. If you have not procured the earlier volumes, BEGIN NOW.

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA

A Biographical Dictionary of Notable Living Men and Women of the United States. Established, 1899, by Albert Nelson Marquis. Revised and Reissued Biennially.

"Who's Who in America" aims to give a brief, crisp, personal sketch of every living man and woman in the United States whose position or achievements make his or her personality of general interest, and tells just the things every intelligent person wants to know about those who are most conspicuous in every walk of life.

A valuable feature of the book will be found in the appended addresses. No other work has ever attempted the laborious task of finding and furnishing the addresses of leading Americans in all parts of the world. Thus, the book possesses not only the best attributes of a Biographical Dictionary, but is also a handy Directory of those living people of the United States in whom almost everybody is interested.

"Who's Who in America" is thoroughly revised, brought down and reissued biennially. No one who aims to keep abreast of the times can afford to be without a copy at his elbow constantly. The edition for 1908-9 contains 16,216 personal sketches and 2,400 pages. The price of this edition is $4.00 per copy. The price of future editions will be $5.00 per copy.

THE FADING OF THE MAYFLOWER

A POEM OF THE PRESENT TIME ≺ By THEODORE TILTON

IN this patriotic poem Mr. Tilton compares the simple life, the sturdy integrity, the high ideals, and the Godward look of the Pilgrim Fathers, with the luxurious excess, the money madness and the loose morals of the worshippers of the "Golden Calf" who are their decendants.

The poem is in sonnet form and will be welcomed for its high literary merit, as well as for its noble literary aspirations and the timeliness of its theme.

It impresses by its strength and charms by its beauty. It mirrors with fidelity the people and practices it condemns, and makes the picture more vivid by the contrasts it draws of those men of heroic mold who gave our country its birthright and endowment of liberty and glory. There are many touches of trenchant wit which give it brightness. It pulsates with the red blood of patriotism, and is tuneful with a poetic inspiration worthy of the theme.

It should be read and studied by every American, and will find response in every heart that holds dear the jewel of American honor. Although past his "three score years and ten," ripened by experience, MR. TILTON retained to the end the idealism, the poetic delicacy and the originality of tone which gave such attractiveness to his utterances in the fateful period immediately following the Civil War. The Fading of the Mayflower was written at Paris, only a few months before Mr. Tilton's death, in 1907.

As a present for a friend no more appropriate volume could be found than a copy of the beautiful De Luxe edition of MR. TILTON'S remarkable book.

Decorative border design, by Ralph Fletcher Seymour, of the Trailing Arbutus (from which the book takes its theme). Drawings by W. J. Enright. A beautiful half-tone portrait of the Author. India tint paper, uncut edges. Gilt top. Beautifully printed and bound. Full cloth. Price $1.50.
